Dear Mayor Mendenhall, Council Chair Mano, and Esteemed Salt Lake City Officials,

Salt Lake City's remarkable step forward has set a powerful national example for inclusivity.

Bravo, esteemed officials. Bravo.

Your recent decision—to officially adopt new city flags proudly featuring LGBTQ+ and diversity symbolism despite Utah's restrictive flag legislation—is exactly the type of courageous leadership we celebrate. Salt Lake City's determination signals unwavering solidarity, powerfully affirming your city's dedication to diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Usually, my organization—Boca Raton-based Church of Satanology and Perpetual Soirée—deploys provocative stunts nationwide, famously erecting disco-ball-topped, gay pride-colored Festivus poles in state capitols nationwide. Despite our provocative name, our organization is fully secular performance art—championing freedom of expression, constitutional equality, and government neutrality.

Now, let's amplify your inspiring message even further.

REVOLT

We propose Salt Lake City officially adopt our donated Church of Satanology flag as an additional city banner. Our colors embody religious neutrality, freedom of speech, and steadfast support for marginalized communities—principles strongly resonant with Salt Lake City’s courageous stance.

We recognize permanent adoption might initially feel ambitious. If that’s the case, let’s explore a ceremonial flag-raising event. Imagine Salt Lake City, already at the forefront of inclusivity, becoming the first U.S. city to proudly fly our standard—not as a mere protest, but as a vibrant, fearless celebration of diversity and constitutional freedom.

Recently, we’ve approached several other U.S. cities with similar proposals—but none have displayed Salt Lake City’s boldness and visionary commitment.

Attached is a visual mockup of our distinctive flag. We’re confident you’ll agree it compellingly symbolizes the progressive values Salt Lake City champions.

Let’s discuss how we can further solidify your city’s inspiring legacy—I eagerly await your response.

Warm regards, and deepest appreciation for your commitment to inclusivity.
